CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION

Since its inception, the Public Officers' Welfare Council has been organising a cohort of events based on an established calendar of activities. It has been very successful in providing a forum where public officers get the opportunity to interact and learn from other colleagues.

Motivated by an inner drive to professionalise its way of doing things, the Public Officers' Welfare Council has come up with this 2-year Action Plan. The Council wishes to place on record the unique collaboration and support it has received from all its stakeholders and staff in the advent of this exercise, mainly the Presidents and members of the different Staff Welfare Associations, representatives of Trade Unions and other persons who have come up openly and frankly with their views and ideas.

To implement the activities mentioned in the Plan, the Council will be reinforced and restructured. It is the sincere wish of the POWC Board that each Departmental Staff Welfare Association prepares its own Action Plan.
